

Wolboer/Wool Farmer

Hunter, Lawrance

Abstract:

It can truly be said that wool is a divinely engineered fibre, providing protection and comfort for sheep during climatic extremes of temperature, sun, wind, rain and snow. Since ancient times, human beings have recognised the outstanding properties of wool and utilised them in clothing, as an 'extra skin' as it were, for their own comfort and protection, as well as adornment - no man-made fibre being able to match it.