

Trends in Genetics, vol. 33(6): 375-377

Enhancer-derived lncRNAs regulate genome architecture: fact or fiction?

Fanucchi, Stephanie
Mhlanga, Musa M

ABSTRACT:

How does the non-coding portion of the genome contribute to the regulation of genome architecture? A recent paper by Tan et al. focuses on the relationship between cis-acting complex-trait-associated lincRNAs and the formation of chromosomal contacts in topologically associating domains (TADs).